

A 23% increase in earnings with no brain drain.

Community colleges can't deliver for us unless we deliver for them.

Community colleges are key to the economic vitality of communities. Students with associate degrees earn up to 23% more than high school graduates, and most stay in their communities after graduation. But today enrollments are exploding by upwards of 17%, and funding is not keeping up. Community colleges are working hard for our communities. Now they urgently need our help.

Tell your local lawmakers to increase funding for community colleges now.
