Community college governing boards have an inherent and ongoing responsibility to their institutions, communities and students to actively build their competencies and to practice effective governance. Visit www.trustee-education.org to explore the only educational opportunities created specifically for community college trustees.